People-Centric Planning: Doing SPM the Right Way

Live Webcast January 18 at 1:00 pm ET

With Gartner claiming the 70% digital transformation failure rate is due to "the absence of a strategic portfolio management approach," Broadcom is helping companies reimagine the PMO with new ways of working. Instead of overseeing delivery execution, the PMO needs to start tracking value realization. Best way to do that is to measure both IT and business teams with one set of metrics. Come see how you can break down silos and unify the enterprise with value streams.

From Projects to Products: Your Digital Transformation Hack

Live Webcast January 11 at 11:05 am ET

When facing a digital transformation, as most companies are today, funding individual projects just won't cut it. There's no real-time visibility, or close to it. No alignment between order and delivery. And no real understanding of the value, if any, the enterprise investments yield. If this sounds familiar, join Head of Clarity Product Management, Brian Nathanson, for a quick overview on how to start the transition from project management to product management.

People-Centric Planning: A New Way of Working

Live Webcast: February 15 at 11:05 am ET

For companies to innovate and grow, they have to intelligently budget and manage human capital. Financial governance of investment portfolios thus needs to shift: Fund people, not work. With IT now fully integrated in the day-to-day operations of any department, it's time to unite the enterprise under one set of business metrics. Join Head of Clarity Product Management, Brian Nathanson, for an in-depth look at people-centric strategic portfolio management.
